Spirit Mending: Soul Retrieval, Ancient & Modern

DATE: Saturday, March 10, 2012

TIME: 10:30 a.m. - 1:00 p.m.

PLACE: Beautiful healing dome location on Niwot Road. Karen's cell phone for that day is 303.810.6486

RSVP: Karen@KarenRiceKing or call Karen at 303.665.0175 for directions.

DESCRIPTION:

For 3 decades, Karen has facilitated a process with clients who have "pieces" missing from their chakras, due to accidents, illness, trauma, or losses of any kind. In this presentation, you will learn more about the causes of "soul loss." As one of Sandra Ingerman's recognized teachers, Karen will explain and demonstrate the traditional Soul Retrieval process.

There will be an explanation of our chakras and how this process can be implemented as a guided visualization, as well.

For more information, see the book Soul Retrieval: Mending the Fragmented Self, by Sandra Ingerman (New York: HarperCollins, 1991).

SUGGESTED DONATION: We appreciate a donation of $10 to help pay for the space, snacks and beverages (cash, checks and credit cards accepted). However, no one will be turned away for financial reasons.

BACKGROUND: Karen Rice King has a double degree in World Religion and Counseling Psychology, and has taught Shamanism for over 30 years. She studied Kahuna healing at the Theosophical Society with Serge King in the early 1970s; and later went on a Vision Quest with Sun Bear. She has studied and worked with Sandra Ingerman, a Shamanic teacher and author, since the 1990s. Sandra was the Education Director for 28 years with the Foundation of Shamanic Studies, founded by Michael Harner, who introduced shamanism to the US in the 1960s.
